

Ranking Predictions for O'Neill Evolution Quarterpipe Session

Andy Finch (USA)

“Finch Airlines” - Currently World No. 4. Battling Chas for World No 1. However, Andy must finish 10 places higher than Chas to take World No. 1. For example, if Andy wins the Title, and Guldemond drops outside top 10, Andy will be World No. 1. Finch has the best trick and Highest Air at The Oakley Arctic Challenge 2005, finishing 2nd overall.

Chas Guldemond (USA)

First TTR Quarterpipe event ever. Currently World No. 3. Battling Andy for World No 1. If Chas makes the podium, he'll move into Swatch TTR World No. 1, with an unassailable lead, even if Andy wins.

Risto Mattila (FIN)

3rd in QP at 2006 Nissan X-Trail Jam. Currently World No. 9. Can move into World No. 6 if he wins the Quarterpipe Title, and into Swatch TTR World No. 7 if he finishes Top Ten.

Mathieu Crepel (FRA)

05/06 TTR World Tour Champion. Currently World No 15. If he makes the Quarterpipe finals, he'll move into Swatch TTR World No. 7.

Jamie Nicholls (GBR)

Only 13 years old! Currently World No 21. If he finishes in the Quarterpipe Top 25, he'll move into the Swatch TTR World Top 15.

Iouri Podladtchikov (SUI)

Finished 06/07 TTR Tour as World No. 6. Currently World No 24. If he finishes in the Quarterpipe Top 15, he'll move into the Swatch TTR World Top 15.

Markus Keller (SUI)

Currently World No. 30. Finishing in the Quarterpipe Top 10 will move him into the Swatch TTR World Top 15.

Nicolas Mueller (SUI)

Finished World No 18 on 06/07 TTR Tour. Last year's Quarterpipe Title Champion. Currently World No. 39. Finishing in the Quarterpipe Top 10 will move him into the Swatch TTR World Top 15.

Arthur Longo (FRA)

Finished 12th on the 06/07 TTR Tour. Currently World No. 7. If he makes the finals, he'll move into the Swatch TTR World Top 20.

Tim Humphreys (USA)

Finished 20th on the 06/07 TTR World Tour. Won Nokia Air & Style Rookie Challenge Munich 07 at just 15 years old. Currently World No 17. If he finishes in the Quarterpipe Top 20, he'll move into the TTR World Top 10.